As per the reports of Census of India 2011, the child sex ratio in Jaipur was 861 which marked it as the second district in highest declining child sex ratio with 48 points in Rajasthan. Jaipur district is amongst of the lower than average CSR districts in Rajasthan. Research shows that, even after the enforcement of PC&PNDT Act, 1994, due to misuses of technology, illegal practices of doctors, lack of awareness in the community and the second position of women in our society, many of the girl child fetuses are getting aborted and infants are being killed every day in various parts of the state. The program aims to Empowering the community to eliminate Sex Selection and Sex Determination to guarantee the right of girls to be born and stay alive.

To achieve the goal of the project various activities were carried out to indulge the community members such as newlyweds, adolescent girls and women, simultaneously advocacy with the act implementing authorities and sensitization of service providers was also done.

Intensifying the Response to address Gender Biased Sex Selection and All form of Discrimination against Women and Girls:

To intensify the response of critical stakeholders such as government officials, elected representatives and opinion makers to gender biased sex selection effective and meaning full partnership with stakeholders was developed through workshops and meetings. The project is supported by Girls Count and UN Women to order to achieve more affirmative action, accelerate legal and administrative response to gender biased sex selection and implementation of PCPNDT Act across Rajasthan.

The focus of the project is to involve community members to address the issue by creating community based group of adolescent girls and boys to influence the issue through video documentation. Along with that to address structures, institutions and system that perpetuate gender inequality through media centric interventions were adopted under which a state level media workshop was organized in which 60 media representatives from electronic and print media groups.

In the coming year we will concentrate on involving other stakeholders to address the issue of gender biased sex selections.

Protection of Child Rights

Sonia was a very happy girl studying in 9th standard of a private school and was working hard to score good but she was not aware that her life was about to change. On 27th Feb CHILDLINE help line received a call informing about the marriage of Sonia scheduled on 28th March. For verification of the information CHILDLINE team visited the village and the school. After visit it was found that Sonia was a minor and her family was going to marry her off on 28th March. Police was informed about the marriage and team along with the police visited the village of the Sonia to meet her parents. Intervention of the CHILDLINE convinced the family to stop the marriage and a written declaration was provided by Sonia's parent assuring not to get her married before the legal age.

Now Sonia is going back to the school. And this this resonated with the entire village, and culminated in an announcement being made by the elders: no underage girl in their community would ever be forced to marry again.

CHILDLINE 1098

SRKPS is committed to enabling children to reach their full potential and ensuring their overall well-being by providing them with a protective and conducive living environment. We recognize that communities, families and children themselves are an integral part of any effective child protection system. As such, we focus on bringing stakeholders together to collaborate in building a long-term protective environment for children in their communities.

CHILDLINE 1098, Jhunjhunu was started in September, 2016 and within few months it reached to every town and village of the district. To raise awareness among children and masses about the helpline community events, open school events, etc were organized. In launching of the helpline in district great support from District Administration, Child Welfare Committee and Police department was received.

Total Number of cases registered till march 2017- 77

Maternal and Child Health Services

Women Health and Right Advocacy Partnership (Phase IV)

The strategic focus was to strengthen existing health facilities and system along with building the confidence of the women to demand for quality of health services. In 4 Gram Panchayet and population of 38,263 of Jhunjhunu district Women Health Right Advocacy Program- Phase IV(WHRAP-IV) was implemented and in the area we strengthened the health services by creating awareness and facilitating the engagement of community members in Rajasthan Medicare Relief Society (RMRS) and improving the capacity of existing & new added members. Special emphasis was given on creating a platform for women to demand for quality of health services with the help of Gram Sabha and organizing Mahila Sanwad (open house for Women).

During this time 352 women participated in Gram Sabha and Mahila Snawad and demanded for quality of health services at PHCs and Sub-Centers. To provide women a platform to demand for improvement in health facilities we ensured the discussion on maternal and child health issues in all 37 Gram Panchayet of the Jhunjhunu Block with the support of district administration. In our working area 38 proposals at Gram Sabha were submitted by women and actions were taken by PRIs to fulfill the demand.

To strengthen the existing health facilities and to build the capacity of RMRS members a district level capacity building workshop was organized in which all members for 4 CHCs and 12 PHCs participated. As the result of the workshop community participation in RMRS meetings has increased and sense of ownership has developed. This has helped in availability of cleaner and hygienic health services decreasing chances infection among mother and child as well as availability of respectful health services.

SRKPS in partnership with SUMA Network has moved one step forward in ensuring the availability of quality of health services for mother and child.

Ensured quality of health services for the population of 38263

RMRS members of 4 CHCs & 12
PHCs were orientated about roles and responsibilities of RMSRS

Reduction in Prevalence of HIV/AIDS It's never too late!

Zakir was a driver by profession but his addiction to injected drugs has got him out of job. His wife and two children were now facing financial challenges so his wife started working as a domestic help but this does not made the life for Zakir's family any easier. Zakir was now turned aggressive as the result of addiction and started demanding money from his wife for drugs. At last Zaker's wife had no choice than leaving him so she moved out of the house.

Now Zakir was left with his two children and an addiction. As he was a registered IDU, SRKPS team came to know about his situation. He was counseled to join the OST center and regular follow up by the team was done so he doesn't break the medicine intake. SRKPS team also organized family counseling sessions for his family to aware and sensitizes them about his addiction as well as improvements after OST treatment.

Now his craving for drugs has stopped and is regular on treatment from OST center. His wife has returned to him and he has got a job at commercial kitchen (Tiffin supply chain). And during non working hours at kitchen he drives a taxi. Unlike earlier, the financial condition of the family has improved and Zakir is concentrating on betterment of his family.

Target Intervention- IDU and FSW

It is evident that in India, over 90% of HIV transmission happens through unprotected sex or through the sharing of infected injecting equipments. Much of the transmission occurs with high risk groups like Female Sex Workers, Men Having Sex with Men and Intra Venus Drug Users and HIV prevention will only be successful when we curtail HIV transmission among these groups with effective targeted intervention.

In the context of HIV/AIDS in India, Rajasthan is considered low prevalence yet highly vulnerable state. The most recent mapping study (In 2008 conducted by Raman group of consultants) reveals the presence over 27000 FSWs, 12460 MSMs and 2061 IDUs. Presence of large number of Rural based sex work in the form of traditional sex work also contributing factor for vulnerability. Besides this, Rajasthan has got 19% of mines in India which attracts large number of laborers from other parts of the country. State being one of the most renowned tourist destinations in the country, attracts large number of domestic and foreign tourists every year which is 25% of Indian tourism. It is also significant to note that from the state huge number of people are going for out migration especially for high prevalent states like Maharastra, Gujarat and Karnataka.

The project covers Kota and Jhalawar district of Rajasthan.

Target population:

Injection Drug Users (IDUs): 300 users in Urban Area of Kota district

Female Sex Workers (FSWs): 300 sex workers who belong of Bachhra Community and have adopted sex work as profession.

Project Activities:

The behavior change communication programme generates demand for the services. The main objective of SRKPS is to improve knowledge levels of the HRGs about the causes and consequence of sexually transmitted diseases and the preventive measures. All the efforts are focused on increasing the health seeking behavior. To achieve the behavioral change SRKPS team focuses on Interpersonal Communication (One to one, One to group, Focus group discussion, Small media event, Need bed IEC materials distribution)

And as the result of Interpersonal Communication IDUs and FSWs come forward and seek help after the one to one or group interaction. Peer Educators also help in identification of STD patients. The identified STD patients are immediately referred to clinic or DIC run by project or to another facility in the vicinity or to the nearby hospitals. STD case management involves amplifying the doctor's advice, stressing the link between STD & HIV, reinforcing the risk perception and health seeking behavior. STD diagnosis and treatment facility is provided through an established clinic and health camps.

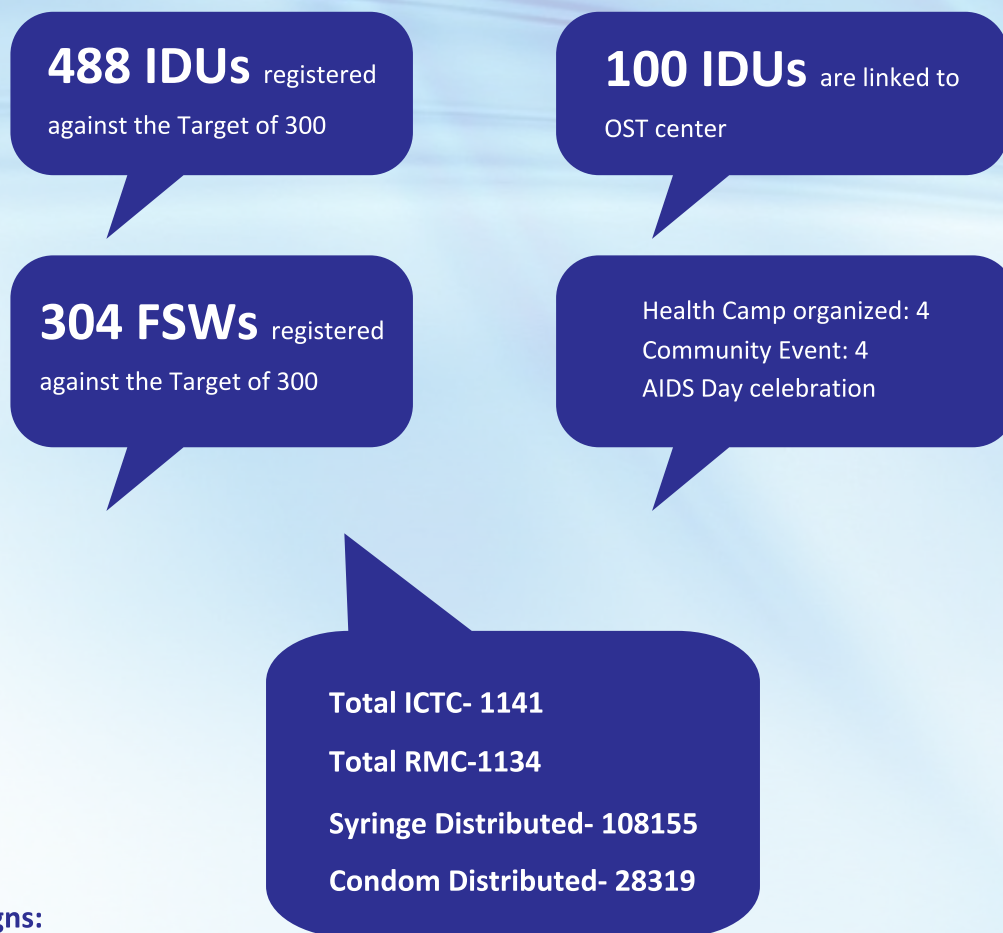

Another important technical strategy was promotion of safer sex practices through the condom usages. The project focused on two facts, one is information & other is availability of condoms for safety & prevention of STI/HIV.

When the ultimate goal of a project is community participation, creating an enabling environment becomes very crucial. Enabling environment results in trust-building and sustainability of a project. Under this component advocacy was considered very important to shed away the stigma and discrimination against the PLWHA as well as High Risk Groups. Second is networking to tap the resources of the community effectively. Third is meeting immediate needs to establish credibility in the community.

Referrals and Linkages:–

- Linkages to STI and health services with strong referral and follow-up
- Promotion/distribution of commodities including free condoms, lubricants, needles/syringes
- Linkages to other health services (e.g. for TB) and voluntary counseling and testing centres (ICTCs)
- Provision of safe spaces (DICs)
